<sup>(1)</sup>In general, we do not like to be told either what we already know or what we are unlikely ever to know well or to good effect. We do not read books if we are already thoroughly familiar with the material or if it is so completely unfamiliar that it is likely to remain so. <sup>(2)</sup>We read books which help us say things we are on the verge of
5 saying anyway but cannot quite say without help. We understand the author, although we could not have formulated what we understand before he put it into words.
